

Abstract of the Article
“Features and Research Methodology of Economic Security of the Region”
by T. M. Gordiienko

The successful implementation of economic security policy and civil social and economic development of the country depends on the level of government officials' expertise and on their methodical preparation in development and implementation of comprehensive programs of building economic security.

The necessity of reformation of the regulation mechanism of the social and economic development process demands the attention towards the improvement of methodical assessment approaches to the dynamics of economic and social significant of development of the region and the whole country.

The level of economic security is influenced not only by the market but also by the ability of appropriate state institutions to regulate the social and economic process of particular areas and the whole country . As for the crisis analysis, it is considered to be one of the elements of the regional system analysis.

The regional economic security research demands an accountant of the environment of state and inter-regional level. So, there is a chance to analyze the system reaction of change of the environment.

Modeling the possible transformations of structure components became very important due to appropriate menace and ability intensification to resist unfavorable impacts.

The most important criterion of economic security of the region is the level of well-being of society.

The development of research methodology of economic security of the region is a timely task and has fundamental importance for providing a theoretically substantiated set of managerial decisions on issue of economic and social development of a separate region and the whole state.

In economic sphere management of the region new approaches to objective assessment of economic security level are synthesized and the old ones are being improved.

The research program of the region the methodological basis of which is the concept of development of wide-area economic systems, has to provide a basis of regional economic policy in informative and methodological way. The object of the study is trends and regularity of forming the ability of the regional economic system to resist economic security menace in global environment plays the role of the research object.