

Abstract of the Article “Forming the Mechanism of Skilled Management Social and Economic Efficiency”
by T. Kainova

The consequences of the world economic and financial crisis are observed in Ukraine. They determine a choice of new guidelines for the state social and economic development to search the internal reserves of enterprises development. While the socially-oriented management in Ukraine is being formed the research of skilled management efficiency is taking on special significance. Making conditions for skilled management social and economic efficiency as well as forming the efficiency mechanism at home industrial plants is not the only means and condition of social production development but also a priority purpose for modern Ukrainian economy qualitative improvement.

The aim of investigation is to form the mechanism of skilled management social and economic efficiency.

The subject of investigation is skilled management processes at industrial plants.

The object of investigation is theoretical and practical perspectives of skilled management within providing social and economic efficiency.

The following tasks have been posed and solved in the process of studying:

the category “skilled management” has been etymologized;

the mechanism of social and economic efficiency has been introduced;

Changes in economy towards integration into the world system of management which are taking place in Ukraine demonstrate the necessity to achieve the production efficiency by increase the economic indicators on the one hand and on the other hand – by increase the social indicators ponderability in the process of manufacture. Therefore the mechanism of social and economic efficiency for skilled management has been worked out on basis of efficiency components values increase and forming organization provision. This will provide productive work and also assist in the key purpose obtaining – achievement of social and economic efficiency.